

1 October, 2011

Genix Healthcare joins the Association of Dental Groups

The Association of Dental Groups (ADG) is pleased to welcome new member, Genix Healthcare.

Headquartered in Leeds, Genix Healthcare owns and operates a chain of dental clinics across England offering private and NHS dentistry services. The company is run by Managing Director, Mustafa Mohammed.

David Worskett, Chair of the ADG said;

“We are delighted that Genix has come on board. A growing organisation that is serving patients across the country, we expect Mustafa and his team will make a significant contribution to the association.”

ADG is a trade association whose members are corporate dentistry providers and dentistry groups serving both private and NHS patients across the UK. The association supports the Government’s aim to improve high quality access to dental care and will work with the NHS and the profession as a whole to improve patient care.