

Association of Dental Groups

Success Story

Dental disease is a global issue, yet 75% of the world's population has no access to a dentist according to Bridge2Aid.<sup>i</sup>

That is why the charity is dedicated to providing rural-based Health Workers with the skills, equipment and resources required to alleviate their communities of dental related pain.

To date, 300 Health Workers from East Africa have been trained to provide emergency dental treatment thanks to Bridge2Aid's training programme.

The Association of Dental Groups (ADG) is proud to support Bridge2Aid and its incredible work and is pleased to continue its collaboration as a Gold Unity Partner.

With on-going support, training can continue to be provided to people like Donald.

Thanks to his new skills and qualifications, Donald is now based at Kataro Health Centre in the Bukoba District in Tanzania, and can offer much needed treatment to the community.

During his training alone, when he spent three days learning the theory and six days in practical training, Donald was part of a team that helped over 647 people – a staggering and truly wonderful achievement.
