

Association of Dental Groups

Share best practice

Sanjay Shah, CEO of Dental Care Group, shares why he feels being a member of the Association of Dental Groups (ADG) is beneficial.

“To avoid being isolated in the profession as a unique business, we joined the ADG so that we could get our voices heard and continue to stay involved in the changes occurring across dentistry. Through this network we have been able to get to know other groups, share best practice and learn from each other as we all improve and grow.”

Much of what the ADG does is for the good of patients and the profession as a whole. Find out more from the website.
